

Coronavirus (COVID-19):

Everything you need to know about remote learning

In the event of that your child has to self-isolate at home as an individual or as part of a school bubble, the school will implement remote learning. The aim of remote learning is to:

- Minimise the disruption to pupils' education and the delivery of the curriculum.
- Ensure provision is in place so that all pupils have access to high quality learning resources.
- Protect pupils from the risks associated with using devices connected to the internet.
- Ensure staff, parent, and pupil data remains secure and is not lost or misused.
- Ensure robust safeguarding measures continue to be in effect during the period of remote learning.
- Ensure all pupils have the provision they need to complete their work to the best of their ability, and to remain happy, healthy, and supported during periods of remote learning.

What will happen?

If your child is self-isolating you need to contact school as soon as possible. If your child is well but self-isolating we will then discuss remote learning with you. Your child's class teacher will set remote learning tasks via see-saw or google classroom. These tasks will mirror tasks within the classroom to ensure that your child's learning is not disrupted. We ask you to ensure that your child is available to learn remotely during school hours and that the schoolwork set is completed on time and to the best of their child's ability.

What can you do to help?

- Keep to a routine of the school day as much as possible so your child knows what to expect.
- Report any technical issues to school as soon as possible
- Keep active – ensure your child is getting enough exercise and incorporate this into their daily routine.
- Use different methods to assist learning, e.g. online programmes and documentaries.
- Stay sociable – organise with other parents to arrange video calls with your child's friends so they can stay connected during social hours.

For younger children, you can:

- Incorporate learning in make-believe play.
- Play educational games with numbers or letters and read together.

Additional information

Additional information you need to be aware of includes the following:
